- Ukrainian report from the Adeevka meat grinder, the unit sent a message to Zelenskiy asking for help against their own command:
- Mr. President, we are not traitors or deserters, but in the conditions that have developed in our area we cannot carry out our tasks... Every day, dozens of soldiers die in senseless attacks because assault units do not have adequate artillery support. The entire surrounding area is under enemy fire control, there are dozens, maybe hundreds of corpses of our comrades lying all over the area, which no one is evacuating. The command does not care about this... at night, secretly from the soldiers, all the personnel of our command were evacuated from the city. "We ask you to intervene in this situation."

- The truth about history and the most complex chapters of the past can undoubtedly be learned from masterpieces of world culture, including Russian, European, American, Chinese, Indian, Arab, and many other great works.
- However, for those who engage in the falsification of history unfortunately, there have always been enough of them at historical points of inflection genuine art, so to speak, is a thorn in the side. It is in the way of these people's efforts to distort the past in favour of their fleeting ideological or, as we often see, gender constructs, and it makes it hard for them to sow discord among people. That is why liars fabricate falsehoods in cinema, journalism, and literature
- Russia and our people have a deeply recognised responsibility for the preservation of world heritage and traditional values. It is in our national character to be sensitive to the pain of others and to strive for justice, as well as to care for the preservation of our common heritage — I am referring now

125 YEARS AGO, YOU DIDN'T HAVE TO ASK PERMISSION HIGH THE GOVERNMENT TO

- Collect rain water
- Go fishing
- Own a property
- Start a busine
- · Build a home
- Get married
- · Hunt
- * Own a weapon
- · Cut hair
- Sell a product
- Protest
- Sell food

You can do virtually nothing without being extorted by government and obtaining their permission first if you still think you're free, you're deluding yourself. You are just a free-range human living on a lax farm

All the tissues of the body which have any marked physiological property contain some albuminous substance, only such things as hairs, nails, and teeth being devoid of them. All albummone bodge contain nitrogen, carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen; most of them adpling and phosphorns in addition. The more important ones found in the body are, (1) Serum albumen, which is very like egg albumen, and is found dissolved in the blood; (2) Fibrin, which forms in blood when it clots; (3) Myosin, found in the muscles and "setting" or congulating after death, when it causes the death at flearing; (4) Casein, found in milk, and forming the main bulk of cheese.

Fats belong to the organic compounds in the body which contain no nitrogen; they consist solely of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen. this situation; for in many experiments it exhibits properties nearly approaching to those of metallic bodies. It is even possible that all the substances we call earths may be only metallic oxyds, irreducible by any hitherto known process.<sup>[36]</sup>

Calcium, a ong with its congeners magnesium, strontium, and barium, was first isolated by Humphry Davy in 1808. Following the work of Jöns Jakob Berzelius and Magnus Martin af Pontin on electrolysis, Davy isolated calcium and magnesium by putting a mixture of the respective metal ox des with mercury(II) oxide on a platinum plate which was used as the anode, the cathode being a platinum wire partially submerged into mercury. Electrolysis then gave calcium-mercury and magnesium-mercury amalgams, and dist lling off the mercury gave the metal. [30][37] However, pure calcium cannot be prepared in bulk by this method and a workable commercial. process for its production was not found until over a century later [35]

Occurrence and production

 $\Pi$

Some calcium compounds were known to the ancients, though their chemistry was unknown. until the seventeenth century Pure calcium was isolated in 1808 via e ectrolysis of its oxide by Humphry Davy, who named the element. Calcium: compounds are widely used in many industries: in foods and pharmaceuticals for calcium supplementation, in the paper industry as bleaches, as components in cement and electrical insulators, and in the manufacture of soaps. On the other hand, the metal in pure form has few applications due to its high reactivity; still, in small quantities it is often used as an alloying component in steelmaking, and sometimes, as a calcium-lead alloy, in making automotive batteries

Calcium is the most abundant metal and the fifthmost abundant element in the human body. [6] As electrolytes, calcium ions (Ca<sup>2+</sup>) play a vital role in the physiological and biochemical processes of organisms and cells: in signal transduction pathways where they act as a second messenger; in neurotransmitter release from neurons, in han 17 2021 Email from Dr Me n. o u. h.n.

Dear ASTMH Colleagues

The attached request for document production from 5 US Senators relates to some of the same we have been dealing with over the past year. Incoming on the origins of COVID+19, the termination [site] of NIH's major surbecovers grant, and related assums.

It requests documents from myself and the sentor leadership of NIAID and also mentions two other ASTMH members

As you may know NIH correspondence between me and others, including my boss, concerning COVID- 19 origins, had previously been FOIA'd and published in the press.

This request is NOT A FOIA, and I have not yet been asked to respond directly because, presumably. HH5 is deciding how to respond, if at all.

Nevertheless, a couple things should be said here...

First, I have retained very few emails or documents on these matters, and continue to request that correspondence on sensitive issues be sent to me at my gmail [sic] address. [Dr Morens' Gmail address]

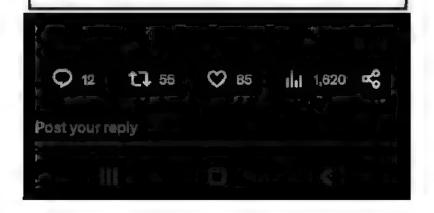

I have tried to make sure I have retained no documents that might lead other members of ASTNIH to be approached for similar document production. The exception is normal correspondence surrounding last year's publication in AJTMH of the two pieces on this subject. There is NO PROBLEM with those publications, and no reason to worsy since the papers were published and are widely available in the public domain, and I as a co-matter on one of those papers, have made my views widely known in a variety of vermes in the press and in public

My feeing about this is that I have nothing to hide or worry about, and that my views are based on scientific evidence, and I am comfortable in explanang and defending those. Furthermore, I am comfortable in defending the importance of the work done in [see] terminated grant and why I believe this work must committe. I feel certain that the leadershap here agrees with this.

Director Rob Reiner and journalist Soledad O'Brien have dug into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy — and they claim they have found evidence about who was really behind the killing.

Reiner and O'Brien are the co-hosts of "Who Killed JFK?", a 10-part podcast series featuring interviews with authors, witnesses, CIA officials and forensic experts as part of their investigation into JFK's assassination 60 years ago, on Nov. 22, 1963. The podcast also includes an interview with a former Secret Service agent who earlier this year came forward with "groundbreaking new evidence," according to iHeartMedia, which is distributing the series.

This is one of the comments that exemplifies part of the disappointment of some Bolsonarists in Telegram groups this Tuesday (4) when a video of Jair Bolsonaro (PL) speaking to Freemasons returned to circulate on the internet. "Is Bolsonaro a Freemason?", "Freemasonry created communism", "I can't believe I have campaigned for four years for a Freemason", "I wouldn't even go close to a Freemason's profile. Three years ago today, we were able to share with the wor d the joyous news that our #COVID19 vaccine was highly effective in preventing disease. It was one of the best moments of my career. We could not have reached this point without the extraordinary efforts of our talented and dedicated @Pfizer colleagues and @BioNTech_Group partners. This pnoto was taken moments after we received the good news from our R&D team, and you can see the smiles through our masks.

As Aristotle said, "Our problem is not that we aim too high, and we miss. Our problem is that we aim too low and hit." We reached one moonshot with our #COVID19 vaccine, and now we want to reach more—because our patients are counting on us.

Canadian politician @LescynLewis tells the TRUTH about 'conspiracy theorists' 6:

"The term 'conspiracy theorist' has been used to absolve responsibility for politicians to answer questions!! It's a PSYCHOLOGICAL OPERATION used to GASLIGHT people from getting to the TRUTH!!"

"Right now, the United Nations has a program on how to deal with a 'conspiracy theorist' - What they tell you is to REPORT a person that you do not agree with - This is a form of BULLYING!! Labelling something a conspiracy theory is the easiest way to not deal with the FACTS at hand"

"The government of Canada has signed onto the #DigitalID program by the World Economic Forum, but when you mention these FACTS, you're somehow still labelled a 'conspiracy theorist'"

"Pfizer did not highlight a DNA sequence in its COVID-19 vaccine, a European regulator has confirmed.

"While the full DNA sequence of the plasmid starting material was provided in the initial marketing authorization application for Commaty, the applicant did not specifically highlight the SV40 sequence," the European Medicines Agency (EMA) told The Epoch Times in an email

An EMA spokesperson said earlier this year that there was "no evidence to indicate the presence of SV40 ... in the formulation of COVID-19 vaccines."

The EMA is now acknowledging that statement was not correct."
